CAN'T GET SQUAD OF 50 OUT FOR YALE FOOTBALL

Coach Jones Will Work Players Hard This Week For Carnegie Game.

New Haven, Sept. 25.—Yale starts its fourth week of practice today in preparation for the opening game with Carnegie Tech here, Saturday. Head Coach Jones, Dr. Arthur Bridges and Clarence Alcott attended Saturday's Harvard-Columbia game at Cambridge, while Dr. Billy Bull was at Princeton.

Coach Jones kept most of the veterans out of the scrimmage last week, which he has devoted to tryouts of promising new candidates. The work of Comerford and Nichols, ends; Taft and Baldridge, tackles; Zenner, guard; Travis Smith, quarter back; Stewart, half back; and Jacques, full back, has been the best of the newcomers.

Jones has devoted the entire week to straight football, using simple formations, but hammering them at a terrific rate at the scrum. Forward passes and drop kicks have not been in the variety repertoire, although the scrum has developed a remarkably clever kicker in Joe Neville and the regulars have shown Harry Le Gore in brilliant form as a long and accurate forward passer.

Twenty members of the squad who have been in the Yale artillery battalion were in uniform today for the first time. They returned to college Thursday.

Pat Osborne, the former University of North Carolina player, who was on the Yale ineligible list last year, has been appointed coach of the scrubs. He will be in uniform most of the season against the Varsity. Frank Hinkle, head coach the last two seasons, has returned to the city and will make his home here, although he will not take any part in the coaching.

The Yale coaches are distressed at the small size of the squad, which has not yet passed the fifty mark. The fall term of college will begin next Thursday, when another attempt will be made to get out more candidates. Only two eleven have yet been formed.

BASEBALL FANS HAVE THEIR EAGLE EYES ON THE CHASE-WHEAT FIGHT FOR BATTING HONORS

Brooklyn, Sept. 25.—Now that Ty Cobb has announced that he has no chance to oust Tris Speaker as the champion batter of the American league baseball fans have turned their attention to the exciting race for the batting championship of the National league between Hal Chase of the Cincinnati Reds and Zach Wheat of the Brooklyn Dodgers. At present writing Chase is leading the boys of the parent baseball organization, but Wheat is not far behind him. Since he joined the Reds Chase has played a wonderful game in the field, around

LIGHTNING SHOTS AT SPORTING TARGETS

GIANTS MAY COME.

Although he was unable to book the Giants for Newfield park, yesterday, Manager Healy of the Bridgeport club has hopes of getting McGraw's men here next Sunday for a contest with the locals. He is negotiating with Secretary Foster of the Giants and may succeed in landing the game. Benny Kauff will be a big drawing card here.

POOR OLD HARVARD.

Some of the critics are already sympathizing with Harvard because the Crimson only beat Colby 10 to 0 last Saturday. It is said that the gaps at tackle and center will be hard to fill. Of course Harvard lost all but two of the 1915 line but there is a wealth of material and with the wonderful coaching system presided over by Percy Haughton and Leo Leary, there the Crimson rooters will probably see the same perfect machine in action in the big games. Saturday's contest showed that the Crimson has a brilliant halfback in Eddie Casey, the former Exeter star. His running enabled Harvard to score the lone touchdown. Another halfback, Flower, is said to be almost as good as Casey.

The Boston Red Sox dropped back a little yesterday when they lost to Cleveland and the White Sox remained in the running by beating the Yankees. The Chicago boys are two and a half games behind the Red Sox but Carrigan's men have eight games to play while the White Sox have only five. In the National league the Phillies are only one and a half games behind Brooklyn. The teams meet Thursday in the first of a three game series and this will probably decide the flag.

Miss Ida Elmonsky set a new record for women swimmers in New York yesterday, by swimming around Manhattan Island, covering 35 miles in 11 hours and 35 minutes.

Red Whalen, the former Bridgeport shortstop, went to see the Cubs play in New York last week. Several players he met in the Western league hailed him and told him to be sure and visit them at their hotel after the game. The club, which is a comedian, gave him a monologue and his stuff took so well that the Cubs insisted upon his remaining as their guest for several days.

Jimmy Clinton, the Blue Ribbon basketball star, is one of the best pitchers in the semi-pro ranks and could get a big league trial if he wanted one. He pitched for Jersey City against the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday and fanned Hornsby, the young slugger, twice. Clinton lost the contest by 5 to 0.

Howie Baker, the Bridgeport third baseman, is a hero in Georgetown. He played with that club against Bethel yesterday and made a home run, double and single. Blake and Horkowicz of Bridgeport played with Bethel, which lost by 4 to 3. Johnny Reiger, formerly of Bridgeport, twirled for Georgetown, while Speed Finn of this city, worked for Bethel.

The Annex football eleven of New Haven, will be strong this season. The Elm City boys held their first practice yesterday and a squad of 17 turned out.

Pitching two games has become quite a fad in the big leagues. So far this season Davenport, the Browns, Benton and Pettit of the Giants and Demaree and Alexander of the Phillies are the twirlers who have performed the feat. Alexander's trick of beating Cincinnati last Saturday kept the Phillies in the race. That makes 31 victories for Alexander this season and 15 of these have been shutouts.

Local fans who went to Lighthouse point yesterday to see the Giants play were disappointed because Benny Kauff didn't get a hit. Brad Kocher delivered a home run, though.

YALE MAY ROW COLUMBIA ON EVE OF FOOTBALL GAME

New York, Sept. 25.—Yale is desirous of continuing the rowing relations which it established with Columbia last fall when the two met in a two-mile race on New Haven harbor on the day before the Yale-Princeton football game.

Although no definite announcement has been made, it is known that Guy Nickliss suggested to the Columbia authorities last spring that Yale would be glad to row a return race with the Blue and White in the fall. This was after negotiations for a spring race between the two had fallen through. Because of the revolution in Columbia's rowing management since the Poughkeepsie regatta and the subsequent outburst of the athletic association for the rowing club as the directing authority, it is probable that Yale will be obliged to make new overtures. The Blue would prefer to have the race rowed at New Haven on the eve of one of its football games, but would probably agree to row in New York.

Soccer Season Opens Before Big Crowds; Rangers Tie Elm City

The soccer season had a successful opening yesterday in this city. At Seaside park a record breaking crowd saw the Bridgeport Rangers and New Haven battle to a scoreless draw. The defense of both teams was so good that neither side could tally. Doyle of the locals nearly scored with a drive that gave the New Haven goal a fright. McKay excelled at goal for the visitors and Cave was also good. Healy, Doyle and Molyneux were stars for the Rangers. The lineup:

Rangers (0)	New Haven (0)
Healy	McKay
Molyneux	Griswell
Toth	Valentine
MacPherson	L B Wakefield
York	R H B Cave
Salmond	C H B Eyles
Griffin	L H B Montgomery
Ennan	O R F Stanley
Doyle	I R F Seamen
Harrison	I L F Anderson
Allen	O L F Smith

Referee, J. Booth, Bridgeport. Linesmen H. Valentine and D. Forrest. Time, two halves of 45 minutes. Score, Rangers 0, New Haven 0.

At Black Rock the Bridgeport Rangers won from the Danes by 8 to 0 in an Amateur league contest. The Rangers outclassed their opponents. Holden, Hainsworth and Ellam played well for the victors.

CHARLEY WEINERT AND BOB MOHA FIGHT IS FINALLY CALLED OFF

New York, Sept. 25.—The Weinert-Moha bout, scheduled for Madison Square Garden tonight, has been called off for the time being. The Garden is now in the hands of a receiver and there was some doubt as to who should hold the money. Attorneys for the various interests threatened James Johnston, the boy bandit, with injunctions, habeas corpus and corpus delicti if he did not apportion the gate receipts according to their various notions.

"Well, gentlemen," said the boy bandit finally, "if there is going to be so much trouble about the dough, re-

BROOKLYN FANS HAVE TURNED OUT POORLY THIS YEAR

New York, Sept. 25.—For a club that has been leading practically all season the Dodgers have been poorly supported.

The Dodger fans have come out strongly for the Saturday double-header, but the midweek crowds have been poor excepting on rare occasions. Especially last week, with the team fighting tooth and nail for the pennant, the Brooklyn turnouts were most discouraging. In defending his right to charge the world's steepest prices, Efforts called attention to some of the recent crowds. He said:

"The attendance for the last game of the Cincinnati series last Tuesday was under 2,000 and less than 3,000 for the Robins defeat of St. Louis last Thursday. That seems to be rather weak support from a borough with a 2,000,000 population and a team that is leading the National league."

KAUFF AND BRAD KOCHER AID GIANTS BEATING COLONIALS

New Haven, Sept. 25.—The Giants' winning streak remains intact. After romping through the National league, beating team after team until they had accumulated 19 straight victories, the New York team here yesterday and defeated the Colonials by a 9 to 5 count. The Giants who played here yesterday were not the same Giants that are striving to chalk up a world's record for consecutive victories. From H. Heinie Zimmerman, the celebrated umpire batter, and the illustrious Benny Kauff, the former Hartford idol were the only regulars to appear here.

Kauff didn't get a hit. But Heinie and Bennie, teamed with the team mates, came here imbued with that winning fever. They fought hard all the way and proved a stellar attraction for the 4,100 fans who packed the enclosure. Manager McGraw sent word that he could not spare any more regulars to a new record for straight victories is his ambition. Furthermore he wanted it understood that he would rather lose a lot than a ball game at this stage. So the Giants acted under orders, took no chances in having the Colonials run the streak.

The outstanding feature of the game was the great uphill battling of the Colonials. After the Giants had held a 5 to 0 lead for six innings, the locals came back in their half of the sixth and scored three times off "Big" Way the former Yale star. Way was dickered at the close of this round in favor of Donahue, a recruit. Benny Kauff, with the exception of the pitchers, was the only member of the New York regulars, who failed to make consecutive appearances. Kauff's failure to hit in the plate five times and died on infield taps in all but one instance, when he lined to Co in right field. Hans Lobert, Mike Doolin, Joe Rodriguez, formerly of New London, and Brad Kocher, hit Bumpus for two safe hits. Bumpus, of Kocher's hit, was a wicked smash to deep left field for a home run. It was one of the longest hits seen at the Point this year.

LAUDER TO COACH YALE IN BASEBALL

New Haven, Sept. 25.—New Haven, Sept. 25.—The Yale baseball coach for next season will again be Billy Lauder, according to an announcement made by Harry Le Gore, the baseball captain. Lauder was compelled to put a green team into the field last season because of the disqualification of six players, but the nine showed rapid improvement under his coaching and showed better baseball than the Yale officials believed possible when the season began.

As Captain LeGore will be busy with football, this fall, Coach Lauder will have charge of the fall practice of the baseball squad. Lauder formerly played with Brown University and the New York and the Philadelphia National league nines and coached the Columbia and the Williams College teams.

NATE TUFTS GETS REFEREE JOB FOR GRIDIRON CLASSICS

New York, Sept. 25.—Assigned as referee to the four big college football games in the east, Nate Tufts of Waltham, former Waltham high school coach and present state senator from that district, will be one of the most prominent figures in the 1916 football campaign.

The Harvard-Yale classic falls to Tufts, while his other major assignments are: Yale-Princeton, Pennsylvania-Dartmouth, and Dartmouth-Syracuse. In addition to these Tufts is booked for the Georgetown-Tulane game at New Orleans Christmas day and Georgetown-Havanna game the following week in Cuba. His speed and general knowledge of the game will also find him in line to officiate in the more important preliminary games.

Bull Langford of Trinity, at one time in big demand in the prominent games, is well cared for on the Harvard schedule, with the Cornell, Virginia, Princeton and Brown games assigned to him. Langford will also referee the Army-Navy game.

DARTMOUTH HAS BRIGHT PROSPECTS ON FOOTBALL FIELD

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 25.—With Frank Cavanaugh again at the helm, Dartmouth football prospects are decidedly bright. Facing the hardest schedule in years, one which calls for meetings with five of the best teams in the East on successive Saturdays, the Green candidates have been out in daily scrimmages have been in order, and as a direct result the men are in exceptionally good condition.

Milt Ghee, who was chosen by Walter Camp for his mythical All-American eleven two years ago, has been appointed assistant coach, succeeding "Red" Loudon, the old Dartmouth end. His work with the backs has already produced results, and it would not be at all surprising if the trio of Gerrish, Duhamel and Thiescher proves to be the best line the team has ever had.

Captain Gerrish, always one of the best defensive players in college football, has developed an amazing ability in carrying the ball. In practice scrimmages he has been worked with great frequency and has rarely failed to make a gain. Ponder, White, Poole and Lehman, all seasoned men, are the most likely candidates for the secondary berths in the backfield.

Despite the loss of Cannell, the star freshman player, through failure to return to college, Dartmouth is well fortified with quarterbacks. H. B. McDonough, the old Exeter star, and Sid Holbrook are two letter men available, and Dick Holbrook, who was ineligible to play last year, and Switzer, a former New Jersey scholastic star, are candidates for the meritorious Dartmouth line. Well fortified on the ends with Emery and Dumas, veterans, and F. McDonough of Montgomery, an old High School of Commerce player, the most likely contenders for positions.

In the line a serious problem confronts the coaches. The loss of Spear, the gigantic guard and an All-American choice last year, is keenly felt. Spears played one year out West before coming to Dartmouth, so will not be available this fall in any other capacity than as a coach. Cotton, a veteran of several college bashing, and Trier, a letter man, seem to have the call at tackle.

Merrill, the only veteran guard in togs, will undoubtedly hold down his old berth, with Barrows, a drop-kicker, Mather, a 200-pound man, and Hood fighting it out for the other guard. "State" Baxter, the light but scrappy centre, reported late, but is rapidly rounding into shape. Gile, who won his letter last fall, also is a candidate for the pivot position.

The junk men should be encouraged by the fact that the commission on investigating government ownership of railroads will soon publish a voluminous report.

The man who lets his apples go to waste in the country when they are selling for five cents each in the city is usually the same one who claims it does not pay to advertise.

WHITE SOX KEEP IN FLAG RACE BY DEFEATING YANKS

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Turning from a rear guard action to a frontal attack, the White Sox defeated the Yankees here yesterday afternoon, by 2 to 1, while Boston was being trimmed by Cleveland. The victory of the locals and the defeat of the champions lessened the gap between the pair to two and one-half games. Delaying into the higher mathematics of the race, Chicago might still be figured a contender for the flag if the Red Sox would only accommodate to go to pieces and lose four or five games.

In order to win yesterday's contest, Claude Williams had to come back to mid-season form, as the Sox could find Nick Cullop for only four safeties. Williams was nicked for six hits in nine rounds, while the four blowers registered off Cullop were made in seven. Allen Russell pitching the final part of the game for the Yankees.

Half of the visitors' hits came in the first inning, but, although an error was added, the Yanks were unable to profit to the extent of more than one run. After this initial spasm Williams settled down and pitched a beautiful game, besides contributing a triple in the third inning, which, however, despite the fact that he had tried the inning open with the blow, failed to grow anything bigger. Williams had eight strikeouts to his credit, whiffing the side in the fifth. He gave two bases on balls and hit one man. Cullop fanned three, but did not issue a pass, and neither did Russell. The bases shows the tightness of the battle.

CHAIN CO. BEATS PRATT & WHITNEY

The Pratt & Whitney team of Hartford, which has been cleaning up all corners in the factory ranks about the American Chain Co. club at Newfield park yesterday afternoon. The final figures were 7 to 1. For seven innings the teams fought on even terms and the score was 1 to 1 until the latter half of the eighth. Then the visitors blew with a loud report and the Chain boys put six runs over the plate.

Much has been said about Dutch Leonard, the Pratt & Whitney pitcher, and he did appear to have a lot of stuff. His control was poor, however. Although Townsend of the Chain Co. is not so spectacular as Leonard, he appeared to be a more finished performer. Townsend was cool at all times.

Newbauer played well for the Chain Co., and so did Griffin. Mike Healy gave himself a workout by going to center field in the ninth. He stopped the only chance that came his way. The score:

BOXER HEREUX WANTS HIS NAME DISPLAYED EVEN IF HE'S PANNED

New York, Sept. 25.—Pat Hereux, who is on the way east with Jim Coffroth, was under the management of Jack Kearns, but left him rather unceremoniously and tied up with Coffroth. Whereat Kearns wrote a series of scorching letters to the newspapers of the Coast berating Pat for his faithlessness.

(As indicating that Hereux is gifted with more than average intelligence he did not swing on Kearns' jaw, but merely wrote a brief note to him, thanking him for keeping his (Pat's) name before the public and urging him to keep up the good work. A fighter with that quality of headwork should be dangerous in the ring.
